

What You Want Them to Remember

Name the kind of home you are trying to build, in your own words.

WHEN TO USE THIS

Use this on a quiet day, or when you have lost the thread of why you do all this.

When your child is grown, what do you hope they say about home?

What already happens in your house that matches that?

Look for small, ordinary things. They count most.

What gets in the way most days?

No family lives up to this every day. Pointing yourself in the right direction is the part you can do.

The ordinary days are what they will remember. You are already in the middle of them.